YEAR FOR PRIESTS 2009-2010

The Priesthood Today

We're All in This Together

By James Martin, S.J. Catholic Update July 2009

Let me illustrate that with a story. In the early 1990s I lived in Kenya and worked for the Jesuit Refugee Service. One day, while driving my Jeep in the countryside, a sheep ran out in front of me, crossed the road and headed off down a hill. Then, from out of nowhere, it seemed, a teenage shepherd, a Maasai boy, ran after the sheep. He clambered all the way down a steep rocky hill, found the sheep and pulled him back up. I couldn't help but think not only of the image of the lost sheep—which I literally saw in front of me—but also the image of the Good Shepherd, who is Christ. That's who the priest is supposed to emulate: the one who cares that much for his people, just like that young African boy.
